

ABSTRACT

A product 1 having electrically conducting portions 7, 10 and 11, in which said electrically conducting portions are made of a highly conductive
5 resin. The electrically conducting portions may be exemplified either by coils 2 or flat plates such as separators for fuel cells or by electric contacts or portions for generating heat when energized by an electric power.